Colgate welcomes President Jeffrey Herbst
by Barbara Brooks

On July 1, one of President Jeffrey Herbst’s first official “duties” was to mingle with staff, faculty, and students at the Spirit of Summer celebration. Sporting his brand new Colgate tie, he looked right at home on the lawn outside Merrill House.

Herbst came to Colgate after serving for five years as provost and executive vice president for academic affairs at Miami University in Ohio. Before that, he held various faculty and administrative positions at Princeton University. Read more here.

While President Herbst has said that his “job description is to make Colgate the best university in the country,” he has a couple of shorter-term, sportier goals.

On September 25, he will be rooting for the Raiders against rival Syracuse University, when the teams face off for the first time since 2003. Herbst’s son Spencer will be a first-year student at Syracuse.

Then, on October 9, Herbst will again find himself surrounded by people wearing orange. That’s when Colgate plays Princeton, where he spent 18 years.

But on October 2-3, Herbst will definitely be on the home team. No matter who wins Saturday’s homecoming game vs. Georgetown, there will be lots to celebrate on Sunday. At 11:00 a.m., he will be officially inaugurated as Colgate’s 16th president. Stay tuned for details.

Colgate’s waste management improves for the 3rd straight year

Over the past three years, Colgate University has reduced its landfill waste by over 300,000 lbs (150 tons). See table below. This year alone we saved over $9,150 in tipping fees and significantly reduced our greenhouse gas emissions associated with landfill waste.

This trend exemplifies significant progress and could be attributed to a number of recent efforts. For example, over the past year we have educated students and employees on how to recycle by creating a recycling guide and posting recycling signs throughout campus. We also increased the number of recycling bins throughout campus making recycling more convenient. From January to March, Colgate also took its first swing at RecycleMania – a campus-wide effort and national competition to increase our recycling rates. Finally, the end of the year salvage program sponsored by the COVE had the largest impact. This May, 42 volunteers collected 13 U-Hauls full of items from student residences, in addition to several van and truckloads. The total landfill waste for the month of May was 158,000 lbs, a 40,000 lb. decrease from the total waste in May 2009.

We anticipate further reductions for next year. We will continue with our education campaign to further improve our recycling infrastructure (i.e. more bins and clear signage). With everyone’s help, we can smash last year’s mark. So, remember to take a moment to place your waste in the proper bin. Paper products (i.e. newspapers, magazines, photocopy/printer, etc.) go in one type of recycle bin and bottles and cans go in another. If you encounter a recycling bin with no sign, e-mail John Pumilio (jpumilio@colgate.edu) or go online to print one out and hang it yourself.

Another simple and fun way to reduce waste is to participate in our new Office Swap program. If you have extra supplies lying around your office or need a supply that someone else might have, click here to enter your information or to view the inventory.

Recycling is easy and effective; it saves money and reduces our campus carbon footprint. We are on the right track, keep up the good work!

Thank you for the cards, kind words, or the hugs received during the time of my Dad’s passing.

—Dorenda Koehl

Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a funeral spray, if so, we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, as any friend could say.
Perhaps you were not there at all, Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so very much, Whatever the part.
